PAYSAGE MATRICE

An aerial photograph of a rural landscape. In the upper right, a large, modern agricultural facility with several circular tanks and processing buildings is visible. To its left, a large field is divided into rectangular plots. A dense forest covers the lower half of the image, with a network of roads and smaller buildings within it. In the upper left, a town with a mix of residential houses and larger institutional buildings like schools or factories is situated. A major highway with a complex multi-level interchange cuts through the scene, particularly on the right side.
